

Rocky Mountain Psychological Association

2003 Convention Update

Spring 2003

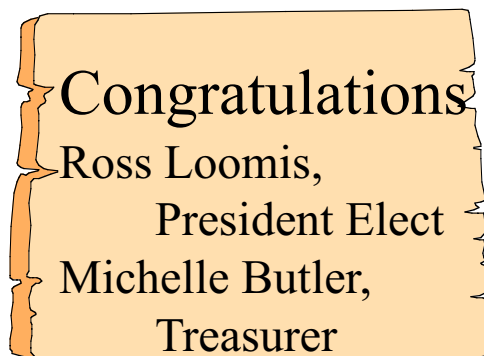

The 2003 Convention is starting to take shape, and will be quite a large event again this year! We have over 220 submissions for papers and posters this year, and all of the Rocky Mountain states are represented, as well as California, Indiana, Kansas, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Washington, and New York. Given the extensive program, we will need to schedule events on Sunday morning. Please plan on staying in Denver for the entire convention, including Sunday morning.

For those who are new to RMPA, please remember that even though you have submitted a proposal, it is still necessary to register for the convention and reserve rooms at the Sheraton. Please preregister as early as possible (the deadline for early registration is March 7). Preregistering is cheaper, plus it really eases the burden on our convention managers and the local staff.

Given budget considerations, we will not be mailing out programs in advance again this year. Last year, this new method seemed to work well. Convention-goers will receive a program when they either pick up their badge (preregistered people) or when they register on-site at the conference in April. We will otherwise have a brief schedule of the conference as well as a complete copy of the program on the website when it is finished. You can check on the progress of the program as we develop it on the webpage at <http://www.rockymountainpsych.org>. Please be patient.

This year we continued to experiment with the on-line submission forms, and had quite a challenging time! Thank you all for your patience with the web submissions. We will have a much better system in place next year.

Notification of proposal acceptance into the program will occur on-line. I promise that you will be able to access it! The status web page can be linked from the main conference webpage or can be directly accessed at <http://psych.colorado.edu/~dmartich/rmpa/status.pdf>.

Starting perhaps in early February, we will put up a list of titles, first authors, and acceptance status. The web page will be updated every few days as reviewers comments are turned in (I will put the update date on the webpage, so you can tell immediately if you should scroll down for news on your proposal). If you suspect that your submission was lost or is missing from the status webpage, please contact Diane Martichuski at Diane.Martichuski@colorado.edu. Thanks again for all of the great looking proposals! We are very excited about this conference—Diane Martichuski, Bill Wozniak, and Rick Miller (Program Chairs).
